Commentary on Table A.3

BJP won all the seats in the states of Gujarat (26 with 60% vote share), Rajasthan (25 with a vote share of 56% vote share), Delhi (7 with 47% vote share) and Uttarakhand (5 with 56% vote share). It won majority of seats in Madhya Pradesh (27 of 29 with 55% vote share), Bihar (22 of 40 with 30% vote share), Jharkhand (12 of 14 with 41% vote share), Chhattisgarh (10 of 11 with 25% vote share), and Haryana (7 of 10 with 35% vote share). It was BJP's performance in Uttar Pradesh (UP), which has the maximum number of seats that proved crucial in it achieving a majority in Lok Sabha; it won 71 of 80 seats in UP (based on 43% vote share), compared to just 10 in 2009.<sup>1</sup> In Punjab, AAP won 4 of the 13 seats in its first national election but failed to win seats elsewhere in the country. In Maharashtra, the BJP-Shivsena alliance won 42 of the 48 seats, an increase of 21 over its 2009 share.

In Jammu and Kashmir, BJP won 3 of the 6 seats compared to zero in 2009, while the Congress-National Conference alliance failed to win any seat. In Bihar, BJP with its allies Rashtriya Lok Samta Party (RLSP) and Lok Jan Shakti Party (LJP), won 31 of the 40 seats, which was a gain of 19 seats from the 2009 election. JDU, which had left the NDA just before the 2014 election, suffered a major defeat winning just 2 seats, 18 lower than in the 2009 election. The BJP won a total of 21 seats in the southern states of Karnataka (17), Andhra Pradesh (3), and Tamil Nadu (1) compared to 19 seats it won in 2009 (all in Karnataka).

- <sup>2</sup> After 2014 general election.
